

MANNOL Getriebeöl-Additiv Automatik 9902

MANNOL Getriebeöl-Additiv Automatik is an additive for rear axles that reduces friction and wear. It is applicable to steering mechanisms with oil sump and automatic transmissions, especially at high working temperatures and in case of considerable attrition. It reduces noise and brings down peak temperatures. It contributes to smooth and effective operation of even older gears. This product is self-mixing.

Getriebeöl Additiv is added to the gear oil – mixing occurs automatically during operation. It is suitable for both mineral and synthetic gear oils. One tube is sufficient for 1 l of gear oil.
